

A-A-A: attitude affects actions – COVID-19

The COVID-19 outbreak and its implications on everyday life and business are unfolding with alarming pace. As a Practice we are therefore absorbing the Government directives on a regular basis and ensuring our practices and procedures align with the health advice issued.

Our FM business fulfils a critical function within to the pharma supply chain and is instrumental to ensuring medical supplies reach the front line via its suppliers, especially during this time of crisis.

Working with our partners Movianto UK and Phoenix Healthcare Distribution Limited, we remain fully operational and are continuing to serve our clients making use of the enhanced IT infrastructure and VPN technologies to achieve a seamless operation.

With a critical presence retained in the main studio, we have successfully migrated certain aspects of our business to home-based operation. Forward planning, staff agility and dedication has been paramount in achieving these transitional arrangements. Placing the highest priority on offering continued support to our staff we continue adhering to the Government guidelines.

Led by the Directorate we continue to monitor our practices and procedures. Whilst business is in a state of flux, we remain committed to agile operation.
